P.R.S. REVIEW OF HOUSING POLICY

The Prime Minister, Mr E.G. Whitlam, said today that the Priorities Review Staff were undertaking, at his request, a complete review of Australian Government policies on housing. Mr Whitlam said he expected the review would include an examination of the efficiency with which various objectives were being met and an exploration of the options available to the Government. Departments of the Australian Government were co-operating with the PRS. Mr Whitlam hoped there would also be co-operation and assistance from other individuals and institutions approached for views or information.
