GRANTS FOR I.W.Y.

Additional funds and assistance for International Womens' Year special projects have been approved by the Government.

A total of $153,074.37 has been allocated to 26 individual domestic projects.

The largest grant ($53,000) will help set up a womens' centre in Port Hedland (W.A.), which was hit by a cyclone late last year.

The grants were approved on the advice of the National Advistory Committee for International Womens: Year.

They are in line with the Committee's responsibility for developing themes and encouraging programmes for the benefit of women throughout Australia.

The approval of these grants will now allow a final report on International Womens' Year activity to be prepared and published.
