COMMITTEE ON TERTIARY EDUCATION

Statement by the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. R.G. Menzies

Professor C.R. McRae, who has been Deputy Chairman of the Committee on the Future of Tertiary Education, has been forced to resign because of ill-health. In announcing this today, the Prime Minister paid tribute to the work done by Professor McRae since the establishment of the Committee in August last year.

Mr. Menzies also announced that arrangements have been made for Professor J.W. Roderick, Professor of Civil Engineering at the University of Sydney, to join the Committee.

The Committee's task is a complex one and it is not expected to complete its report until toward the end of next year.
