RHODESIA

Statement by the Prime Minister, Sir Robert Manzies

I have no official information yet but if this broadcast is true, then I regret it. I had hoped that other counsels would prevail. Naturally, until we have something official and more detailed information, I will not say anything of a particular kind.

As soon as there is something to be said, I will after discussions with my Ministers, take an early opportunity of saying it in the House. Whether this will be tomorrow or next week will depend on circumstances.
