6.30 P.M. MONDAY 26th.

PRIME MINISTER'S HEALTH.

The Prime Minister is on the mend, but no decision has yet been made as to when he will return to his office.

Although he is still in bed, he had a number of official callers at the Lodge today, and dealt with a considerable amount of Governmental business. He is hoping to be back in Parliament before the end of the week.

His doctor is satisfied with his progress, and thorough examinations have shown that the Prime Minister is in good physical condition. However, even a mild form of viral pleurisy takes as much as a week to run its course.
