

INTERVIEW ON SIDE STEPS OF PARLIAMENT HOUSE

Question: Can you categorically deny the story - the allegations in the Bulletin?

Prime Minister: Let me make a couple of points quite plain. Discussions that take place between Ministers in the Ministry are discussions which it has been my practice not to talk about. And let me also make two other points. In the Parliament, any question of pressure on Eric Robinson in relation to any aspect of testimony, past or present, has been denied categorically. And any question of a change of testimony has been denied categorically. Eric Robinson has confirmed that and I have confirmed that and I believe so did the Speaker. That answers the substance of the allegations completely.
