

PRIME MINISTER

FOR MEDIA

21 FEBRUARY 1989

The Government will be recommending to the Governor-General the following senior appointments:

- . Mr Alan Rose, an Associate Secretary in the Attorney-General's portfolio, as Secretary of the Attorney-General's Department. This follows the retirement of Mr Brazil from that position. The appointment of Mr Rose will take effect on 4 March 1989.

Mr Rose has had a varied career with many years in senior positions in the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet, then a period as Secretary of the Department of Community Services before taking up his present position in the Attorney-General's portfolio.

- . Mr Graham Glenn, presently Secretary of the Department of Administrative Services, as Secretary of the Department of Industrial Relations. This follows the appointment of Mr Rae Taylor to a position with Australia Post.

Mr Glenn's appointment will be from 1 March 1989. Before taking up his present position in 1987, Mr Glenn spent many years in senior positions in the former Public Service Board, including as a Commissioner. He has had extensive experience in industrial relations issues, especially in relation to the public sector.
